A teen show about leaked nudes where three teens – each in their own way – are in the midst of a life crisis and forced to handle the situation to regain control of their own lives. The series seeks to make teens more aware of what nudes are and what they can do, both legally and personally, if they experience the online spread of intimate content of themselves or someone close to them. Its goal is to move the shame from those pictured to those who share the pictures. It also calls for the need for legislators to take meaningful action against this rapidly growing problem.

After Janne suddenly disappears while taking out the trash, the police tells Heta there's nothing they can do - a person has every right to go missing if there is no sign of a crime. Troubled, she begins searching for and finds only one clue: it seems Janne had undergone Koistinen's radical divorce therapy for men. Heta is incredulous - everything was so good between them. In pursuit of the truth she joins four desperate divorced men in one of Koistinen's therapy groups... Together, they begin a strange journey towards their new lives.

The Happy Hour of the Wolf is a compelling and unsettling exploration of male and female perceptions of separation.

Cuba, in the 1990's. For Police Detective Mario Conde, every case is personal. With the help of his loyal assistant, Conde investigates corruption, murder and other sordid and often high society crimes, as he struggles with his addictions and desires in a sweltering, dark and yet always vibrant Havana. Based upon the critically acclaimed novels "THE HAVANA QUARTET"

by the internationally renowned Cuban storyteller and essayist LEONARDO PADURA, translated into more than 15 languages including English, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Polish, Romanian and Russian.

An insider look at the colliding worlds of high finance and public service. Per Grepp, deeply flawed financial genius, puts his country's monetary – and moral – stability at risk when his performance figures drop. Under the ever-watchful eyes of the ethics committee, will Per be able to manage their request for growth and sustain his golden boy status? Can the delicate equilibrium between ethics and finance be maintained? This dramedy highlights the boundless complexity of balancing money-making with social responsibility.

After solving the complex and brutal murder of a judge, Israeli police officer Atlas (Lior Ashkenazi) suffers a complete breakdown. Homeless, he lives on the streets of Tel Aviv, utterly alone, cut off from friends, family and society... When he hears about the suicide of the young man he helped put away for the judge's murder, Atlas is shaken to the core.

He begins a feverish hunt for the real murderer, and quickly finds himself facing the harshest of dilemmas: is the truth worth the price of its revelation? Can the pursuit of justice make amends for the crimes of the past?

Mama's Angel is a journey into the underbelly of life in a wealthy and complacent Tel Aviv suburb suddenly devastated by the brutal murder of a young boy. After the initial deep shock, the involvement of the local inhabitants in the case - direct or indirect - slowly begins to reveal itself, and previously unsuspected traumas and prejudices are laid bare. "Do you ever really know your own child?" is the question each neighborhood mother will ask herself during the long and tangled police investigation that ensues.

Florence, 15th century. As the Medici family's ascent, from simple merchants to power brokers, is sparking an economic and cultural revolution, their patriarch Giovanni de Medici (Dustin Hoffman) is murdered in mysterious circumstances. His sons, Cosimo (Richard Madden) and Lorenzo (Stuart Martin), are forced to face a range of enemies plotting to oust the Medici from power. Entirely shot in original locations in Tuscany, this stunning family saga, depicts the foundations of the most profound financial, artistic, and scientific awakening the world has ever known: The Renaissance.

Sixteen girls disappear on an overnight hike. They return – pregnant with a new species. A group of school girls disappear on a mountain hike with their teacher Maisie Bellows. They're not gone long. When they re-emerge, nothing seems wrong. Ringleader Ara Coombs is blamed for leading them astray. Before long it transpires: all sixteen girls are pregnant. But the pregnancies are unlike anything the local doctor has ever seen; blood tests are atypical, hormonal changes too rapid, mineral traces in urine defy analysis. There's something unusual – something human, but not quite - about what these girls are carrying. And whatever it is, it's growing fast. Who will survive to bring their children into the world? Should they be allowed to?
