Every day, the world's most talented chefs and their teams work at the highest level of creativity and discipline to serve the finest food to a happy few. But what if these chefs were to leave their kitchens and face a new public, in a new country, through a new medium..... A FOOD TRUCK ! At the Ritz Paris, there are 300 people between the World's Best Pastry Chef

2020, François Perret, and his customers. François loves to watch his customers unseen, through a half-open door, to observe their reactions to his creations for himself.

Now, in a food truck in LA, he will finally break down the door, meet his clientele face to face and experience their delight - or otherwise - directly. A panel of world-renowned chefs will deliver their impressions of François' adventure and give him advice throughout: Pierre Hermé - Michel Troisgros- Niki Nakayama- Pierre Gagnaire- Dominique Ansel

Exalted by filmmakers, fantasized by Agatha Christie, the Orient-Express is the most famous train in the world, but who knows its true story? From Paris to Istanbul, via Venice, this exclusive investigation tracks down the lost carriages of the legendary train that revolutionized the art of travel. Follow the passion-driven work of train hunters, industrial archaeologists, antique train collectors, historians and writers (Charles King and Nobel Prize in Literature winner Orhan Pamuk), in order to recapture the great epic of the Orient-Express. A timeless journey between myth and reality.

3 years in the life of a world-beating athlete. Between Rio 2013 and Rio 2016, already the youngest champion in the history of judo, Teddy Riner committed himself body and soul to setting an all-time record: an incredible 8 world titles and two Olympic medals. The man is a titan, of that there is no doubt. But it's not only this extraordinary physique that plays the decisive factor in defeating his opponents. There's also his intelligence, his sensitivity, his relentless drive to work, his unparalleled determination – not to mention the fundamental role played by his entourage and his family. Who is the real man behind the ubiquitous media figure? What truly makes a sporting hero?

Paxtown is a capital under the influence of drugs and corruption, torn apart by inequality and poisoned by the mafia. Here, trouble lurks at every corner. In this depraved metropolis, Richard Aldana grew up to be a cunning young man, without attachments or ambitions. In his spare time, he boxes. For Aldana, boxing is neither a sport nor a passion; it's just a way to keep annoyances at bay.

Despite having real talent, Richard would rather die than wear satin shirts and participate in the championship of ultra-violent martial arts, the Fist Fight Funeral Cup, for which all of Paxtown turns out. But all that was before everything fell apart. Before his friend Dave, the owner of the boxing club, was murdered. Overnight, Aldana becomes the protector of his friend's orphaned daughter, Siri. Those who killed Siri's father are now targeting her. They call themselves "The Order of the Lion". They are a religious sect much more dangerous than the cops or gangsters that usually cause trouble in Paxtown. These nutjobs think Siri is the key to their «other world». Searching in Dave's past for what could have triggered such a shit storm, Aldana and Siri are drawn into a quest that overwhelms them, one in which the words "Valley of the King" - a mythological land of magic and demons - keep popping up.

When a naive praying mantis leaves his hometown to fulfill his dream of joining the police force in the big city, he discovers the brutality of the real world. Between booze, drugs, thugs, sex clubs and mad coworkers, he finds out the hard way that even insects have weird vices.

French animation director Alexis Beaumont (THE WAKOS) brings us a depraved look into the literal dumpster that is law enforcement in a big city. BROOKLYN NINE-NINE meets ZOOTOPIA in this daring adult animated comedy. After a successful first season on Netflix and several acclaimed screenings at festivals, season 2 and 3 are in the works."

Welcome to a world destroyed by violence and chaos, a loveless world filled with bad vibes. Welcome to the reign of Little Jesus. It is in this world that Jung, our heart-broken hero, carries on his desperate quest: reunite with Maria, his one true love, who was decapitated by Little Jesus. He's found her body but still needs her head that is in Jesus' possession somewhere across the globe. It's a tale of vengeance and violence. An animation tour-de-force that pays homage to traditional Japanese manga series brought to life by directors Baptiste Gaubert and Jérémie Périn (LASTMAN on Netflix)
